

Netiquette

What is Etiquette?

Defined as a set of norms of personal behavior in polite society, usually in the form of an ethical code of the expected and accepted social behaviors that accord with the conventions and norms observed and practiced by a society, social class, or a social group - Wikipedia

What is Etiquette?

Pretty dense

Defined as a set of norms of personal behavior in polite society, usually in the form of an ethical code of the expected and accepted social behaviors that accord with the conventions and norms observed and practiced by a society, social class, or a social group - Wikipedia

But can be summarized as:

1. Set of norms
2. Based on expectations and acceptance
3. Depending on cultural context

Netiquette

Is simply a set of rules for interaction through the internet

Forum	Last Post	Threads	Posts
Magazine and Members
 Welcome Members A place to introduce yourself and chat about things not necessarily relating to scroll saws or scrolling.	 dust puffer by Max 06-28-2015 01:32 PM	3,757	27,178
 Woodworking Show and Open House Fox Chapel's Open House and Woodworking Show. www.wood-show.com	 Visual Aids! :-) by Rolf 06-24-2015 07:52 AM	37	443
 Author Questions Post your questions for various Scroll Saw Woodworking & Crafts and Fox Chapel Publishing authors.	 Pattern designer by yoadrian 07-12-2015 11:37 PM	283	2,161
 Off Topic (3 Viewing) Here you can discuss anything off topic or just plain chat!	 Rob <Oily> needs your good... by dottyblues 07-12-2015 09:45 PM	8,766	97,729
 Special Publicity A place to post achievement you are proud of: Magazine or Newspaper write ups, shameless self-promotion, etc. Please do not post scrolling projects here.	 First place by Trout 07-06-2015 11:18 PM	200	2,746
 Publisher Feedback Post any feedback you have on Scroll Saw Woodworking & Crafts magazine or Fox Chapel Publishing Books	 Changes coming to the website by NC Scroller Today 03:50 PM	1,027	11,060
 Upcoming Events Post announcements of upcoming shows or events.	 24th Annual Fine Woodworking... by Scrolling Days 04-06-2015 05:02 PM	202	1,904

Because back in the day, the internet and the real world had very strong separations

And so there were different expectations for behavior, different enough to warrant a different term

Netiquette

In the modern day, the lines are more blurred

The cultural context of the internet is more similar to real life

And so many rules of netiquette now are just common sense rules of politeness

Netiquette

But there are still some specific rules that are important to follow online, such as:

1. Being aware of the person

It's very very easy to forget that there is a real person on the other side of the screen

2. When inside a community, follow the community rules

Things like staying on designated topics, or following specific posting formats

On social media

Social media is a special case, since there exists sub groups and sub-cultures inside each platform where the cultural rules are different

On privacy

In an ideal world,

1. Everyone would respect each other's privacy online,
2. No one would share information without consent
3. No one would post anything that reveals personal information

Because someone can do a lot of damage with just a little information

Try not to share too much personal information

And note that certain types of information, when combined with time of posting, should be kept private, such as:

- If you're going on a vacation
- Where you are currently

because i know

RAINBOLT TWO

